

Special Sabbaths

Four Shabbatot and Other Special Sabbaths

On a regular Shabbat, the Parshah of the Week (Torah Portion) is publicly recited during the synagogue service. If the Sabbath occurs during a Jewish festival, an additional section (aliyah) is read from a different Torah scroll during the service. This additional reading requires some extra ceremony at the synagogue.

Rosh Chodesh and the Sabbath

Since Rosh Chodesh is considered a holiday in Judaism, Sabbaths that precede (or coincide with it) are given distinctive titles and additional Torah readings.

1. Shabbat Mevarkhim

שבת נברכים

(shab-baht me-var-KHEEM) n. The “Sabbath of Blessing.” The Sabbath before the New Moon (i.e., Rosh Chodesh). The last Sabbath of the month before the appearance of the new moon is called Shabbat Mevarkhim and an additional prayer is recited asking God to bless the coming month during services.

2. Shabbat Machar Chodesh

שבת מחר חודש

(shab-baht ma-khar KHO-desh) n. “Sabbath of tomorrow’s moon.” A Sabbath that occurs precisely one day before the new moon. An additional haftarah portion (1 Sam. 20:18-42) is read during services.

3. Shabbat Rosh Chodesh

שבת ראש חודש

(shab-baht rohsh KHO-desh) n. “Sabbath of the new moon.” If a Sabbath occurs on the new moon, it is called Shabbat Rosh Chodesh and an additional Torah reading (Num. 28:9-15) and haftarah (Isa. 66:1-24) are recited during services. The additional Torah reading describes the Rosh Chodesh offerings given at the Tabernacle: “At the beginnings of your months, you shall offer a burnt offering to the LORD” (Num. 28:11). The Haftarah portion foretells of a great pilgrimage to Jerusalem after the End of Days (Isa. 66:23).

Special Sabbaths before Passover

The Four Shabbatot

There are four special Sabbaths during the year that do not coincide with a Jewish holiday, but require readings from two Torah scrolls (along with an extra ceremony attending to these readings). All four of these Sabbaths occur just before the 1st of Nissan, the start of the Biblical Year and just before the occurrence of Passover. Collectively, these four Sabbaths are called “The Four Shabbatot.”

1. Shabbat Shekalim

“The rich shall not give more, and the poor shall not give less...” (Exod. 30:15)

שְׁבַת שְׂקָלִים

(shab-baht she-ka-LEEM) n. “Sabbath of the Shekels.” Read on Sabbath before the 1st of Adar. The Maftir (additional reading) from Exodus (30:11-16) describes the census of every Jew and the obligation to give a half-shekel terumah (contribution) during the month of Adar to pay for the public korbanot (sacrifices) offered in the Bet Hamikdash (Temple) in Jerusalem. For us, it might be a time to remember those who offer personal sacrifices so that we also might draw closer to God.

2. Shabbat Zakhor

“Remember what Amalek did to you...” (Deut. 25:17-19)

שְׁבַת זָכָר

(shab-baht zah-KHOR) “Sabbath of Remembrance.” The additional (musaf) portion recalls the enmity of the Amalkites (Deut. 25:17-19). Read on the Sabbath before Purim.

3. Shabbat Parah

“This is the ordinance of the Torah which the Lord has commanded.” (Num. 19:2)

שְׁבַת פָּרָה

(shab-baht pah-RAH) n. “Sabbath of the Red Cow.” The additional (musaf) portion recalls the Red Heifer sacrifice (Num. 19) and the making of the ashes for ritual purification. Parashat Parah is read on the Sabbath after Purim.

4. Shabbat HaChodesh

“This month is for you the first of months...” (Exod. 12:2)

שבת החודש

(shab-baht ha-KHOH-desh) “Sabbath of the Month.” The Sabbath before the 1st of Nissan (Rosh Chodashim), the start of the biblical year (Ex. 12:1-20).

Shabbat HaGadol

Immediately Preceding Passover:

5. Shabbat HaGadol

“Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord.” (Mal. 3:23)

שבת הגדול

(shab-baht hag-gah-DOHL) “The Great Sabbath”; the Sabbath immediately before the festival of Pesach (Passover), in commemoration of the time when the first generation set aside the Pascal lamb. The additional (musaf) is from Malachi 3.

Summer Special Sabbaths

In synagogue services the order of the Haftarot (readings from the Nevi’im, or prophetic writings) usually follow the Torah reading for the week. However, beginning with the Three Weeks of Sorrow until after the High Holidays, these readings change. First are three haftarot of punishment (leading up to Tishah B’Av), then seven of consolation (for the seven weeks until Rosh Hashanah), and finally one of repentance (on Shabbat Shuvah, the Sabbath before Yom Kippur).

1. Shabbat Chazon

“And when ye spread forth your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: yea, when ye make many prayers, I will not hear: your hands are full of blood.” (Isa. 1:15)

שבת חזון

(shab-baht kha-ZOHN) “The Sabbath of Vision.” The Sabbath preceding the Fast of Av (Tishah B’Av) during the Three Weeks of Sorrow is called Chazon (“vision”). The Haftarah reading is from the first chapter of Isaiah (1:1-27) that reveals the coming destruction of the Temple. It is common during this time to confess the sins in our lives that likewise contribute to the lack of God’s Presence in our midst.

2. Shabbat Nachamu

“Nachamu, Nachamu ami - be comforted, be comforted, my people...” (Isa. 40)

שַׁבָּת נִחְמָא

(shab-baht na-cha-MOO) “The Sabbath of Comfort.” The Sabbath immediately following Tishah B’Av (the Ninth of Av) is called Shabbat Nachamu - the “Sabbath of Comfort”, based on the Haftarah reading (Isaiah 40:1-27) that begins: Nachamu, Nachamu ami - “be comforted, be comforted, my people...” The sages state that the word Nachamu is repeated to offer consolation for each of the Temples that we destroyed.

Fall Special Sabbaths

1. Shabbat Shuvah

“Take with you words, and turn to the Lord.” (Hosea 14:3)

שַׁבָּת שׁוֹבֵה

(shab-baht shoo-VAH) “The Sabbath of Repentance.” The Sabbath between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. The Haftarah begins with Hosea 14:2, “Shuvah!”

2. Shabbat Bereshit

“In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth.” (Gen. 1:1)

שַׁבָּת בְּרָאֵשִׁית

(shab-baht be-ray-SHEET) “The Sabbath of Beginning.” This Sabbath follows the feast of Sukkot (Simchat Torah) and the begins first portion of the annual Torah reading cycle.

Winter Special Sabbaths

1. Shabbat Chanukah

שבת חנוכה

(shab-baht cha-noo-KAH) “The Sabbath of Chanukah.” It is marked by an added Torah reading for the festival. If this Sabbath coincides with Rosh Chodesh Tevet, additional readings are recited for the New Moon.

2. Shabbat Shirah

“The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation.” (Exod. 15:2)

שבת שירה

(shab-baht shee-RAH) “The Sabbath of the Song.” When the Torah reading for the week is parashat Beshalach (usually in Shevat/late winter), the famous Shirat Hayam, the “Song the Sea,” is chanted at services. This is a song of praise the Israelites sang after they crossed the Sea of Reeds, and the Shabbat has therefore come to be called Shabbat Shirah (“Sabbath of the Song”). Shirat Hayam begins: “I will sing to Adonai, for he has triumphed gloriously; the horse and his rider he has thrown into the sea. The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation.” The hymn is also sung on the 7th day of Passover, as a memorial of the deliverance by God through the waters of the Sea of Reeds.

שירת הים

Song of the Sea

The Hebrew text is stylized in different ways according to different soferut (scribal) traditions. The sages count 198 words in this song, which is the numerical value for the word tzchok (צחוק), a word that means “laughter” and is the word used to describe Sarah’s response when she finally gave birth to Isaac (Gen. 17:17; 21:6). The joy of Isaac’s birth, then, is linked with the “birth” of the nation of Israel at the time of the Exodus.

Note that Orthodox Jews try to chant Shirat Hayam every day (i.e., during morning services) to fulfill the commandment to “remember the day of your departure from the land of Egypt all the days of your life” (Deut. 16:3).
